Dominic Fiber Optic Cable Bracket Price

Overview

We supply various clamps and brackets for ADSS or drop cable install solutions. Cable clamp and bracket are very important factor during telecommunication projects.

Key Takeaways

Dominic fiber optic cable brackets typically range from $1 to $15 per unit depending on type, material, and quantity, with exact pricing available from suppliers upon request.

Overview of Fiber Optic Cable Brackets

Fiber optic cable brackets are essential for securing and organizing fiber optic cables in telecom, data center, and industrial applications. They are used to mount cables on walls, poles, or racks, providing strain relief and protection from environmental stress. Common materials include UV-resistant thermoplastic, galvanized steel, aluminum alloy, and stainless steel, which ensure durability and resistance to corrosion and temperature variations.

Pricing Factors

The price of a fiber optic cable bracket depends on several factors: Material: Plastic brackets are generally cheaper ($1–$3 per unit), while metal brackets (aluminum or stainless steel) can cost $5–$15 per unit. Type and Size: Standard clips or small brackets for 2–6 mm cables are less expensive, whereas larger suspension or anchor brackets for ADSS or drop cables are higher priced. Quantity: Wholesale or bulk orders significantly reduce the per-unit cost.

Many suppliers offer factory pricing for orders of 100 units or more. Customization: OEM or custom configurations may increase the cost depending on design complexity and material requirements.

Purchasing Options

Direct Suppliers: Companies like Dominic distributors or fiber optic component suppliers provide quotes upon inquiry. You can contact them directly for Dominic-specific brackets. Online Wholesale Platforms: Websites such as Made-in-China or MefiberOptic offer a wide range of fiber optic brackets with competitive pricing and bulk order options.

Component Retailers: Essentra Components and similar suppliers provide standardized fiber optic brackets suitable for telecom and industrial applications, often with CAD drawings and sample availability.

Recommendation

For accurate pricing of Dominic fiber optic cable brackets, it is best to contact authorized distributors or suppliers directly. Provide details such as cable diameter, bracket type, material preference, and order quantity to receive a precise quote. This ensures you get the correct product for your installation needs at a competitive price.
