Dutch Precision Display Cabinet Configuration

Overview

SDB Vitrinebouw designs and builds bespoke display cabinets for museums, schools, shops and projects.

Key Takeaways

Dutch precision display cabinets are fully customizable, modular, and crafted with high-quality European materials to ensure optimal presentation, protection, and functionality.

Overview of Configuration

Dutch display cabinets, particularly from SDB Vitrinebouw, are designed to be bespoke and highly configurable. Each cabinet is tailored to the client's needs, whether for museums, retail, schools, or private collections, ensuring a perfect balance between aesthetic presentation and object preservation.

Materials and Build

Glass: Sourced from Franeker, Netherlands, providing clarity and durability. Aluminium: High-grade European aluminium ensures structural stability and longevity. Construction: Cabinets are fully assembled in the factory, with adjustable shelves that can be repositioned or added as needed.

Modular and Adjustable Features

Shelving: Legborden (shelves) are continuously adjustable, allowing precise placement for objects of varying sizes. Custom Dimensions: Cabinets can be designed to fit specific spaces, from wall-mounted units to freestanding or hanging solutions. Lighting: Optional LED lighting can be integrated to highlight objects without damaging them.

Security and Preservation

Climate Control: Museum-grade climate control options protect sensitive items from humidity and temperature fluctuations.

U

V Protection: Glass can be treated to block harmful UV rays, preserving delicate materials. Security Features: Locking mechanisms and reinforced structures ensure safe display of valuable collections.

Design and Customization Process

Consultation: Begins with a discussion of requirements and desired aesthetics. Design: Ideas are translated into detailed sketches or 3D models. Production: Cabinets are manufactured in-house in the Netherlands, ensuring quality control and efficient delivery.

Installation: Optional on-site installation ensures proper setup and alignment.

Applications

Museums: Climate-controlled, secure, and visually optimized for exhibitions. Retail: Stylish, functional, and adaptable to changing product displays. Schools and Libraries: Durable, safe, and flexible for educational materials.

Private Collections: Custom aesthetics and protective features for personal treasures. Dutch precision display cabinets combine craftsmanship, modularity, and advanced protective features, making them ideal for any setting where both presentation and preservation are critical.
