Overview

Key Takeaways

Ladder-type cable trays typically range from $30 to $150 per 2. 4-meter section, depending on material, load capacity, and supplier options. Pricing OverviewLadder-type cable trays are commonly made from hot-dip galvanized steel, which provides corrosion resistance and durability.

Standard lengths are usually 2. 4 meters, and prices vary based on material thickness, width, and load-bearing capacity. For example, basic galvanized ladder trays may start around $30–$50 per section, while heavy-duty or specialized trays can cost $100–$150 or more per section.

Factors Affecting Cost

Material: Stainless steel or aluminum trays are more expensive than standard galvanized steel. Dimensions: Wider trays or those with higher load ratings increase the price. Fittings and Accessories: Elbows, tees, reducers, and supports are priced per piece and can add to the total cost.

Supplier Type: Factory-direct or OEM options may offer lower prices for bulk orders, while branded distributors may charge a premium. Customization: Trays with special coatings, perforations, or frequency-compliant designs may increase cost.

Purchasing Considerations

Bulk Orders: Buying in larger quantities often reduces the per-unit cost. Installation Flexibility: Ladder trays allow horizontal and vertical routing, and modular designs simplify future expansion.

Long-

Term Value: Investing in durable trays reduces maintenance costs and extends service life, justifying higher initial prices.

Supplier Options

Online Marketplaces: Alibaba and Made-in-China offer competitive pricing and OEM options for ladder-type trays. Industrial Suppliers: McMaster-Carr provides ready-to-ship trays with same or next-day delivery, suitable for urgent projects. Local Electrical Distributors: Often provide guidance on load capacity, environmental suitability, and installation accessories.

For an accurate quote, it is recommended to specify tray dimensions, material, load requirements, and quantity when contacting suppliers, as these factors directly influence the final price.
