Key Takeaways

The price of an 80A ceramic fuse typically ranges from $10 to $25 per unit, depending on the brand, supplier, and specifications.

Supplier Examples and Pricing

Eaton 80A AM Ceramic Cartridge Fuse (22 x 58 mm, 500V AC) is available from RS Components in the UK. While the exact price may vary, similar high-quality fuses of this rating generally cost around $15–$25 per unit.

Digi

Key and Mouser Electronics offer a wide selection of ceramic cartridge fuses, including 80A ratings. Prices depend on the manufacturer, packaging (single or bulk), and delivery options. Amazon and other online marketplaces may list comparable 80A ceramic fuses, often in the $10–$20 range, but prices fluctuate based on seller and shipping.

Factors Affecting Price

Brand and Certification: Premium brands like Eaton or Littelfuse may cost more due to higher reliability and compliance with safety standards. Voltage Rating: Fuses rated for higher voltages (e.g., 500V AC) are generally more expensive than lower-voltage equivalents. Quantity: Buying in bulk packs can reduce the per-unit cost.
