Key Takeaways

Steel cable trays in South Sudan range in price depending on type, size, and material, with hot-dip galvanized ladder and perforated trays being commonly available.

Price Overview

Steel cable trays are widely used for supporting electrical cables in commercial and industrial installations. In South Sudan, suppliers offer various types including ladder type, perforated, and wire mesh trays, with prices generally quoted per meter or per unit for standard lengths (typically 2. 4 meters).

Hot-dip galvanized ladder cable trays: These are durable and corrosion-resistant, suitable for industrial environments. Prices vary based on width and load capacity, with typical rates starting from $15–$25 per meter for standard sizes. Perforated steel cable trays: These allow better ventilation for cables and are slightly more expensive than ladder trays, generally ranging from $18–$30 per meter depending on dimensions and material thickness.

Wire mesh cable trays: Often used for lighter loads or flexible installations, prices can be higher due to manufacturing complexity, typically $20–$35 per meter.
