Key Takeaways

Cable tray connection accessories typically range from $2 to $150 per piece, depending on type, material, and load capacity.

Overview of Accessories and Pricing

Cable tray connection accessories include clamps, brackets, couplers, tees, crosses, covers, and hangers used to join, support, or protect cable trays. Prices vary widely based on the accessory type, material (steel, aluminum, or plastic), and duty rating (light, medium, or heavy-duty): Clamps and brackets: $2-$20 each, used to secure trays or cables to walls or supports. Couplers and connectors: $5-$30 each, for joining tray sections or changing directions.

Tees, crosses, and bends: $10-$50 each, for routing cables around corners or intersections. Covers and protective strips: $5-$40 each, to shield cables from dust, water, or mechanical damage. Hangers and support bars: $15-$150 each, depending on length, load capacity, and material.

Factors Affecting Cost

Material: Stainless steel and heavy-duty aluminum are more expensive than plastic or light-gauge steel. Size and load rating: Larger trays or accessories designed for higher weight capacities cost more. Brand and certification: Industry-leading brands like Legrand, Schneider Electric, and Phoenix Contact may carry premium pricing.

Special features: Accessories with corrosion resistance, adjustable fittings, or pre-drilled holes for fast installation are priced higher.

Practical Considerations

When budgeting, consider the total number of accessories needed, including spares for installation errors or future expansion. Bulk purchases often reduce per-piece cost. For precise pricing, suppliers like RS Components, McMaster-Carr, and Fixmart provide online catalogs where you can select specific accessories and view current prices.

By understanding the type, material, and duty requirements, you can estimate the total cost of cable tray connection accessories for your project.
