Price of fire cable tray accessories

Overview

Pricing & Lead Times are based on details provided directly by the manufacturer, our network of distributors and based on historical lead times on any given product.

Key Takeaways

Fire cable tray accessories typically range from $8 to $65 per unit, depending on type, size, and manufacturer, with specialized firestop devices costing more.

Typical Price Ranges

Small retrofit or firestop devices: Products like the Dongya coiled breakaway cable are priced around $17. 18 per unit. Fire extinguisher holders for cable trays: These are available for approximately $35.

89 each. Cable clamps and wiring accessories: Simple clamps or cable guards can cost $8–$50, depending on size and material. Specialized firestop mats and sheets: Intumescent mats or composite sheets for high-intensity fire protection can range from $50 to several hundred dollars, depending on dimensions and UL ratings.

Quick pass or retrofit devices: EZ-Path or similar firestop retrofit devices are designed for rapid installation and compliance, with prices varying by tray size and fill percentage, often $50–$150 per device.

Factors Affecting Pricing

Material: Steel, aluminum, or composite materials influence cost. Stainless steel or high-temperature rated materials are more expensive. Size and Tray Compatibility: Larger trays or multiple cable penetrations require bigger or multiple devices, increasing cost.

U

L and Fire Ratings: Accessories with higher F-Ratings or T-Ratings (e.g., 1–3 hours) are priced higher due to testing and certification. Installation Type: Retrofit devices or pre-assembled kits may cost more than simple caulks or pads but save labor. Quantity: Bulk orders often reduce per-unit cost, while single units may carry a premium.

How to Get Accurate Pricing

Provide suppliers with tray dimensions, material, and fire rating requirements. Specify number of penetrations and type of cable tray (ladder, wire mesh, solid-bottom). Include installation environment (new build vs. retrofit) to ensure compatibility.

Request quotes from multiple suppliers to compare unit cost, shipping, and technical support. By considering these factors, you can estimate that basic fire cable tray accessories start around $8–$20, mid-range holders or clamps are $30–$50, and specialized firestop mats or retrofit devices can exceed $100 per unit depending on size and certification.
